To Whom It May Concern,

For the past seven years, we have worked with and used the services of Business Continuity Services, Inc. (BCS) in the assessment and development of our continuity programs and in various educational projects that address the preservation of an organization's most precious asset – its reputation.

We have found BCS, particularly its principals – Lynnda Nelson and James Nelson, to be outstanding professionals whose expertise and actions provided their clients with excellent outcomes and superior customer service. BCS professionals were the finest collaborators with whom Foresight PR has ever worked.

We highly recommend BCS for any of your professional requirements.

Regards,
